

WOMEN'S CITY CLUB OPPOSES BOYCOTT; OFFICERS ELECTED

Defeats Resolution to Combat H. C. L. by Wearing Old Clothes.

The Women's City Club went on record last night as opposed to the movement to have women refrain from buying any new clothes to help keep down the high cost of living.

To "patch 'em" or not to "patch 'em" was the question that caused much heated discussion at a large gathering of club members who attended the annual meeting of the organization last night to hear the result of the election of club officers held during the day.

The idea of women wearing old clothes until threadbare to help stem the tide of high living costs has been under discussion since the Washington recently, and last night Miss Mary O'Toole, acting president of the club and the chairman of the different committees read their reports, then Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, president of the Housekeepers' Alliance, mounted the rostrum and repeated her speech delivered earlier in the day before the Federation of Women's Clubs, appealing to the women of the club to go on record in favor of the movement.

The proposal struck the 500 members assembled last night and soon the women were striving to voice their sentiments.

Resolution Voted Down.
Finally a motion was made by Miss O'Toole of the Washington Club, calling on the Women's City Club to support Mrs. Hoes' resolution.

"The order goes for one unmarried woman, too," cried one demure little blond from a seat in the rear.

"No exceptions to the rule," replied Miss O'Toole from the chair, who called for a vote.

From the emphatic "no" that followed the president's order, it was evident that the proposed movement was held in high disfavor by those assembled.

Results of Election.
Owing to the heavy vote cast, the tellers of election were unable to finish the work of counting the ballots, and it was not until today that the winning candidates were announced. These included:

Miss Mary O'Toole, president; Mrs. William G. Chamberlain, first vice president; Mrs. George Eastman, second vice president; Miss Marie K. Saunders, recording secretary; Miss Carol Fleming, corresponding secretary; and Miss Jane Bartlett, treasurer. Out of the club's previous officers, the three candidates running for president, Miss O'Toole received 529.

The directors elected included: Miss Ethel Bagley, Mrs. A. G. McClintock, Mrs. Louis Brownlow, Miss Allice Solomons, and Mrs. Frank Bright, to serve for one year.

Miss Allice Solomons, chairman of the Finance Committee, and Mrs. J. P. Autt, to serve one year.

In her annual report, Miss O'Toole gave a brief review of the work of the club since its inception, October 9, 1919, when, with thirty-two members gathered, the plans for the new organization were first discussed.

Step by step she carried her auditors over the different periods of construction, pointing out the many vicissitudes met and overcome by the organizers, and ended by announcing that today they boasted of being the second largest of its kind in the United States, carrying a membership roll of more than 500, and displaying financial condition second to none in the country.

Reception to Mrs. Munsey.
At the conclusion of her address, Mrs. O'Toole announced that on Thursday, May 13, a public reception would be held at the club in honor of Mrs. George Eastman, chairman of the club's previous officers, on that day would celebrate the anniversary of her seventieth birthday.

By a unanimous vote the use of the clubrooms were tendered Mrs. Munsey for the occasion.

Reports also were read by Miss Allice Solomons, temporary secretary; Miss Laura A. Bradley, treasurer; Mrs. George Eastman, chairman, membership committee; Mrs. A. Leftwich Sinclair, chairman, house committee, who proposed a vote of thanks to Mrs. E. R. Van Winkle for her splendid assistance while acting on the board; Miss Thel Bagley, library committee; Miss Alice Mathews, committee in charge of periodicals; Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, sections committee; Mrs. George Brennan, entertainment committee; and Mrs. Costigan, food committee, and Mrs. George Eastman, chairman of a committee to install a talking machine in the clubhouse.

It was announced that tonight the club would be entertained by Mrs. Byron McBride Caples, who would give an illustrated lecture on "Fascination," followed by Mrs. Lucy Page Stille, with a lecture on the French music.

MANY ATTEND MAY DAY FETE
Fifteen thousand persons are expected to attend the old English May day celebration to be staged at Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa., Friday and Saturday, Mrs. Otis Skinner, playwright and actress, is directing the pageant, which will be given for the benefit of the $2,000,000 endowment fund.

One of the leading parts in "The Old Wives' Tale" will be taken by Miss Katherine Strauss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Strauss of 1723 Connecticut avenue.

JOHN C. DAVIDSON LEADS QUALIFIERS IN GOLF TOURNEY

John C. Davidson of the Washington Golf and Country Club led the field in the qualifying round of the annual spring tournament of the Washington Golf and Country Club up to 1 o'clock today. Davidson, playing with F. H. Hume of New York, turned in a card of 79, three strokes below three other players representing the Bannockburn Golf Club. Davidson's score, it was believed, would not stand as low as for the medal round, as many of the leading players of the city had not turned in their cards up till 1 o'clock.

B. M. Manly, Lynn Haines and Lee Crandall, Jr., of the Bannockburn Golf Club all had scores of 82. Mark S. Watt of the Columbia Country Club had a card of 84. Other scores follow: J. A. White, Jr., Bannockburn, 85; J. B. Pollard, Braeburn, 89; Louis Lowick, Bannockburn, 87; W. R. Pearce, Bannockburn, 90; Frank S. Appleton, Columbia, 91; Anthony Roman, Bannockburn, 93; Frank P. Greenwalt, Washington, 96; and C. B. Hatch, Columbia, 96.

According to the scores turned in this morning, a card of 90 or 91 will qualify in the fourth flight, course made in good condition for low scoring.

First Golf Tournament of Season in D. C. List Started This Morning

The first golf tournament of the season about Washington got under way at 8 o'clock this morning, when L. S. Trigg of the Washington Golf and Country Club and Claude S. Watts of the Columbia Country Club drove from the first tee in the annual spring invitation tournament at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

This pair led a field composed of some of the best players in the district of Columbia, although four of the leading players, W. R. Tucker, Marshall Whitlatch, the District champion, E. B. Eynon and George P. James were unable to play, owing to press of business. The field which started today is truly representative of the best golfing talent about the District, however, and will provide golf of the best order during the next two days.

Robert L. Pinkenstadt, Donald Woodward, C. H. Orme and A. R. McKendall, who were in the annual Club contingent at the tourney, while Chevy Chase is represented by John H. Clapp, Allan Lard, John S. Larcombe, Jr., and Harry Gillis. Bannockburn has its best players in the field in Basil M. Manly, Lynn Haines and George P. James. The club is represented by its leading players, including A. Colt Yates, last year's champion, and George P. James, the club champion, George E. Truett.

Although the course was in first-class condition today, considering the comparative lateness of the season, the majority of the greens were slow. The players considered, however, that the field got away in good time this morning, enabling the committee in charge of the tourney to put several late entrants into the hour period allowed for such entrants from 11:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.

Delta Tau Delta Banquet.
The Gamma Eta Chapter of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity will hold its annual Founders' day banquet at the University Club Saturday night. Dr. Daniel L. Borden of the faculty of the University of Washington, Medical School will act as toastmaster.

Among the guests who are expected are Representative James R. Mann of Illinois, Champ Clark of Missouri, Senator Park Trammell of Florida, and Representative Hoot of Pennsylvania. Gen. I. W. Little of Soldiers' Home and Frank R. Rogers of New York, editor of the Rainbow, the fraternity magazine.
